CAUSING A TIGER

“As I sleep, some dream beguiles me, and suddenly I know I am dreaming. Then I think: This is a dream, a pure diversion of my will; and now I have unlimited power, I am going to cause a tiger.”

— Jorge Luis Borges

Dreams are fantastical (re)creations collaged and cobbled together from our collected images, thoughts and experiences, and exploded and reassembled with no regard for rectitude or precedent. Using field recordings made from various tours in Europe and the U.S. as both anchors and points of departure— fractured details like the drunk crooner in a circus tent in Italy, the triumvirate of barking dogs outside of Warsaw, a bicycle-mounted calliope in Holland-- we create a sort of musical dreamscape-travelogue.
